Trade Days Conference

35th Annual Vancouver International Wine Festival

1,850 wines • 176 wineries • 15 countries • 55 events • 7 days • 25,000 attendees

The Wine World is Here... To Do Business with You

The Trade Days Conference program is an integral part of Canada's premier wine show, designed to meet the needs of professionals in the hospitality and food and beverage industries. These trade focused events are designed to increase knowledge and expertise and introduce exciting new wines to the marketplace. Three days of seminars and tastings will introduce sommeliers, retailers, buyers, servers, chefs and media to the latest industry trends. With leading wine experts and principals from around the world pouring their products and sharing their trade secrets in person, this is without a doubt the pre-eminent opportunity in Canada to meet the men and women behind the wines you sell and serve.

How to Order

Trade Days Conference events are restricted to members of the hospitality and food and beverage industry. Individuals purchasing tickets for these events must register and provide their name, occupational title, and the name of their establishment prior to booking. A name tag with this information is required for entry to all Trade tasting sessions, including Buyers Only Hour.

Discover California Wines

You might say Californians are serious about wine and relaxed about everything else. Well, maybe not everything else: from a thriving technology industry to revolutionary green farming, Californians work hard and innovate constantly. But when you're surrounded by natural wonder and constant sunshine, it's pretty easy to smile.

However, it takes more than climate and geography to produce fine wine. People make the difference. Inspired by lifestyle changes of the past four decades, rising incomes, and more worldly perspectives, California's diverse array of vintners come from all walks of life, giving rise to a heady spirit of can-do optimism and full-blown experimentation. They have blazed their own trail and forged a New World wine industry that now competes with the best. And the staggering success of these pioneering vintners has, in fact, yielded a flood of delicious wine.

More than ever, California offers great quality, diversity and value at every price point. Vintners and growers have placed an ever-higher level of focus on the international market place, crafting wines that appeal to the tastes of a global consumers set. Younger generations (such as the highly sought-after millennial consumers) are embracing new world wines, and California offers a compelling brand proposition in that arena, over-delivering on quality at all price points.

California remains a world leader in innovation, and the next generation of the California wine community is building on their families' great growing and winemaking traditions, combining that with their own fresh perspective and talents. New generation winemakers are using their creative energy, passion and innovation to help guide the California wine industry and take it in new directions. Digitally connected new generation winemakers are engaging consumers by using social media, in addition to traditional media channels, to attract consumers to our brands. They are going beyond traditional marketing and using food, music, video, web sites, blogs, Facebook and Twitter to demonstrate the unique and compelling aspects of California as a winegrowing region.

The California Sustainable Winegrowing Alliance is making an important contribution to the overall success of our industry. California is proud to have 3,000 wineries and 4,600 wine grape growers who are committed to serving their communities and promoting socially and environmentally responsible farming practices. To achieve sustainability and high-quality grapes and wine, California wineries and vineyards use a continuous improvement approach – involving hundreds of practices implemented over time to best serve the environment, employees, communities, and the vineyard or winery. Sustainable winegrowing and winemaking practices include: managing vineyards for sustainability and quality fruit; conserving water and energy; protecting air and water quality; maintaining healthy soil; reducing pesticide use; preserving local ecosystems and wildlife habitats; recycling natural resources; practicing environmentally preferred purchasing; and enhancing relations with employees and communities. The goal of California vintners and growers is to be the global leader in sustainable winegrowing. As the fourth leading wine producer in the world, California winegrowers are proud of the California Sustainable Winegrowing Program, a grassroots initiative that is the first state-wide program of its kind.

The California lifestyle – its sense of inventiveness, the way wine, food and the outdoors are essential parts of life there – is evident in the wines. California wine, from more than 100 grape varieties and from regions with dramatically diverse geography, climates and cultures, has something for everyone, and along with it, a lifestyle that invites discovery.

This year, we invite you to "Discover California Wines" and embrace a rich oenological heritage that has evolved, revealing the contemporary story of California wines which depicts the romance and authenticity of the state from end to end, and draws a connection between the aspirational California lifestyle and our world-class winegrowing region. Our vintners have their wine glasses ready for you!

The Trade Tasting is the best opportunity to explore the International Festival Tasting Room with your industry peers. This is a fantastic opportunity to meet wine producers from around the world, to taste rare wines, and perhaps to discover the next big thing in the industry. The Trade Tastings are not only an excellent opportunity to network and taste away from the evening crowds, but also a chance to sample 171 wines that are unlisted and not yet available in British Columbia; these are in addition to the 767 served at both trade and public tastings. A winery principal, identified by a royal blue lanyard, is a senior member of the winery, intimately involved in the wine-producing process as a wine-maker, proprietor or senior executive. Feel free to ask questions – this is the best opportunity to find out more about each wine.

Each day, the first hour in the room (1:30-2:30 pm) is reserved for trade buyers and executive chefs only, providing the time and freedom to taste wines and connect with wine industry personalities away from the crowds. VanWineFest defines buyers as wine and/or food industry trade professionals who purchase multiple cases of wine per month on behalf of their establishment.

Members of the trade must register to purchase Trade Days Conference tickets. Individuals purchasing tickets for these events must provide their name, occupational title, and the name of their establishment prior to booking. A name tag with this information is required for entry to all Trade tasting sessions, including Buyers Only Hour. To attend the Buyers Only Hour from 1:30-2:30 pm, please ensure that you identify yourself as a buyer during the registration process.

In 2013 the symposium invites industry types to discuss how to work together to nurture and sustain a growing wine culture. Topics span the role of wine tourism and educating industry participants and retailers on how to engage consumers (yes, the people who buy wine). Join the panel as it probes beneath the culture of wine and tries to decipher where it's growing and what needs to be done next. Moderator Anthony Gismondi will lead the discussion. Panelists will include Harry Hertscheg (Vancouver International Wine Festival), Honore Comfort (Sonoma County Vintners), Kurtis Kolt (East Van Wine Academy), Matthew Lane (Peter Lehmann Wines), Peggy Perry (Willow Park Wine & Spirits), and representatives from our own BC Liquor Stores.

Wine List Awards Competition

The Vancouver International Wine List Awards pay tribute to restaurateurs who have committed to producing an original and creative wine program. Restaurants are invited to submit their wine program details to a panel of respected wine critics for judging. The categories open are: Platinum, Gold, Silver, Bronze and Honourable Mention.

Key criteria:

- The philosophy behind the restaurant's wine program
- How successfully wine and food pairing goals match the philosophy
- Wine education for staff
- User-friendly format free of grammatical and spelling errors
- Value for consumers

To enter, a restaurateur must submit their current wine list, dinner menu and a non-refundable entry fee of $125. The entry fee includes the price of one ticket to the 10th Annual Awards Lunch and one ticket to the Friday Trade Tasting with Buyers Only Hour.

Winners will be announced at the Awards Lunch and will be posted online at the VanWineFest website, and the results will be published by Vancouver Magazine and Wine Access magazine.

Import Vintners & Spirits Association of BC

The Import Vintners & Spirits Association of British Columbia is a non-profit association formed in 1975 by a small group of liquor agents who felt a united voice should be heard when communicating with the B.C. Liquor Distribution Branch. The agent members account for approximately 85% of all imported beverage alcohol in British Columbia.

Bard on the Beach

Bard on the Beach Shakespeare Festival

Mission

To perform, explore and celebrate the genius of William Shakespeare.

Vision

To create an enduring contribution to the cultural fabric of the community as an inspiring centre of Shakespeare performance, education and understanding.

Bard on the Beach is one of Canada's largest not-for-profit, professional Shakespeare Festivals. Presented in a magnificent setting on the waterfront in Vancouver's Vanier Park, the Festival offers Shakespeare plays, related dramas and several special events in two performance tents. Bard on the Beach's 2013 season will run June 12 to September 14. The opening 2013 production on the Festival's BMO Mainstage will be the romantic comedy Twelfth Night, staged by Dennis Garnhum. Playing in repertory with Twelfth Night will be Shakespeare's iconic tragedy, Hamlet, directed by Kim Collier. On the Douglas Campbell Studio Stage, Bard will present Measure for Measure, directed by John Murphy. Alternating with Measure for Measure is a contemporary Canadian play, Timothy Findley's Elizabeth Rex, directed by Rachel Ditor.

Bard on the Beach was established in 1990 with a mandate to provide both Vancouver residents and tourists with affordable, accessible Shakespearean productions of the finest quality. The Festival began as an Equity Co-op, funded primarily by a Canada Council Explorations grant awarded to Artistic Director and Founder Christopher Gaze. A fully professional, not-for-profit theatre company, Bard on the Beach now engages thirty actors in two companies to perform four plays each season, as well as a team of exceptional directors, designers, and technicians; it is also supported by more than 200 volunteers. The productions consistently receive both critical and audience acclaim and play to sold out houses. Over 1.2 million patrons have enjoyed Bard performances over its 24-year history.

In addition to its Shakespeare productions, Bard offers many ancillary activities including opera concerts, specialty workshops, lectures and forums. The tented Bard Village provides patrons with a range of activities and services including informal In A Nutshell talks to provide insight into the plays, concessions and bar services and a boutique.

Through its constantly expanding community outreach, Bard hosts the immensely popular Young Shakespeareans Workshops for youth and teens at the site during the summer and Bard in the Classroom workshops for students and teachers during the school term.

The Bard on the Beach Festival Society is extremely proud to have been chosen by the Vancouver International Wine Festival Society as its charitable recipient. This new partnership will be invaluable to the Festival, helping it to maintain its high level of artistic standards while keeping it an affordable entertainment option for theatre-goers locally, across the country and around the world.
